I know a glass studio not far away
Where people drop in, or stay for the day
And I say to myself, it's an amazing glass world.

I see panels of glass, and lamps full of light
Shining bright through the day, glowing soft through the night
And I say to myself, it's an amazing glass world.

All the colors of the spectrum, translucent and opaque
Glass inspires the artist, just what will they create?
I see friends reconnecting, saying "hey, how are you?"
They're really saying "we love glass too".

I hear the chatter, laughter, and awe
Of those willing to learn—like glass they transform
And I say to myself, it's an amazing glass world.

Yes, I say to myself, it's an amazing glass world.

Inspired by the lyrics to "What a Wonderful World", written by Bob Thiele and George David Weiss.
